

Check Your Progress

- The mayor of your city is worried about identifying the parts of the city that might be affected by a future flood. He is looking for someone to help him assess the flooding hazard. Below, write a short letter describing to him how you will help him identify those areas. Your description should mention how patterns can help predict future natural hazards. You should also describe some of the possible benefits of the assessment you will conduct.